Chapter 447: The Divine Majesty of Sung Jin-Woo

The True Absolute One

Sung Jin-Woo, the True Absolute One, stood at the pinnacle of creation, his form embodying an unparalleled fusion of divinity, shadow, and celestial power. His presence radiated authority and serenity, a testament to his infinite strength and his role as the sovereign protector of the multiverse.

The Physical Form

1. Size and Presence:
Sung Jin-Woo's physical body spanned the equivalent of a billion realms, yet it was compressed into a form the size of a single galaxy. His mere existence was a paradox of cosmic scale and tangible reality, a reflection of his unmatched control over the infinite forces of creation.

2. Skin and Features:
His whitish-silver skin glimmered with an ethereal radiance, symbolizing the merging of primordial light and shadow. Every inch of his form seemed to ripple with divine energy, exuding both warmth and an intimidating majesty.

His eyes, shining like twin golden suns, were piercing and unyielding, seeing through the fabric of existence itself. They carried the weight of eternity and the promise of justice, glowing with a light that inspired awe in all who dared to meet his gaze.

3. Crown and Hair:
Upon his head rested a seven-horned golden crown, a symbol of his dominion over all creation. Each horn shimmered with the power of a different aspect of existence, from light and shadow to chaos and order.

His white hair flowed like cascading starlight, reaching down his back, an ever-shifting manifestation of the energies that coursed through his being.

4. Arms and Hands:
Sung Jin-Woo possessed eight arms—his original two, along with six additional ones. Each arm radiated strength and purpose, capable of wielding cosmic forces with precision and grace. His palms bore golden divine jewels, glowing with immense power, representing his mastery over creation and destruction.

5. Hearts and Core:
Within his chest resided three hearts: his original mortal heart, a black shadow heart, and a celestial heart. Together, they fueled his infinite power, uniting the essence of mortality, darkness, and divinity into a singular, unmatched force.

6. Wings:
Behind him spread a magnificent array of 60 million wings, each feather a fragment of boundless energy. These wings shimmered with shades of black, silver, and gold, embodying the balance of shadow and light. They stretched across realms, their presence illuminating even the darkest corners of existence.

The Divine Armor

Sung Jin-Woo was clad in silver-clad armor, intricately crafted with designs that represented the cosmos itself. The armor, forged from materials beyond mortal comprehension, shone with a divine brilliance, protecting him while amplifying his infinite power. The engraved runes and symbols pulsed with energy, constantly shifting to reflect his thoughts and will.

The Scepter of Dominion

In his right hand, Sung Jin-Woo held the Scepter of Dominion, a weapon and tool that embodied his supreme authority. The scepter, taller than any mortal could fathom, was forged from the essence of creation itself, adorned with golden jewels and flowing patterns of shadow and light.

The scepter served as both a weapon of unparalleled destruction and a symbol of absolute control. With it, he could command realms, reshape existence, and enforce the cosmic balance with a mere thought.

The Aura of the Absolute One

Sung Jin-Woo’s aura was a blend of opposites:

1. Light and Shadow: His presence radiated both comforting warmth and an intimidating chill, reflecting the harmonious coexistence of light and darkness within him.

2. Silence and Power: The space around him was utterly silent, yet it buzzed with energy so potent that it felt as though the very fabric of reality trembled in his presence.

3. Eternal Dominion: His aura stretched across realms, enveloping the multiverse itself, a constant reminder that he was the sovereign protector of creation.

The Divine Jewels

Sung Jin-Woo's body was adorned with nine golden divine jewels, with an additional six on his palms:

1. One inside his chest: The Heart Jewel, representing the unity of shadow and light.

2. One inside his stomach: The Jewel of Eternity, symbolizing infinite creation.

3. Three on his forehead: The Jewels of Dominion, reflecting his omniscience, omnipotence, and omnipresence.

4. Two on the soles of his feet: The Jewels of Foundation, anchoring him as the cornerstone of existence.

5. Six on his palms: The Jewels of Willpower, channeling his authority into every action.

A Beacon of Hope and Power

The appearance of Sung Jin-Woo was more than just a visual representation of his power; it was a symbol of balance, hope, and unity across all realms. Those who gazed upon him—whether ally or enemy—felt the weight of his presence, understanding that he was the embodiment of the multiverse’s ultimate purpose: to protect and nurture all of creation.

Even the Divine Triad—Ashborn and Sung Su-Ho—stood in reverence before him, acknowledging him as the pinnacle of their shared mission.

To Be Continued...